Much is still looking good outside at Longwood this time of year, which is actually Longwood's most-visited month. But even if the weather isn't good, you'll be able to spend hours ogling the wonderful orchids and tropical plants in the conservatories, plus the poinsettias, the decorated Christmas trees, the plant-material ornaments and famous landmarks made out of gingerbread. The Ginger Bread Express train travels through a candy-laden Music Room overflowing with sweet holiday cheer.
We're staying past dark to give you a chance to see Longwood's fountains and outdoor trees lit up with tens of thousands of lights. |
